

IIT ROORKEE

NPTEL ONLINE
CERTIFICATION COURSE

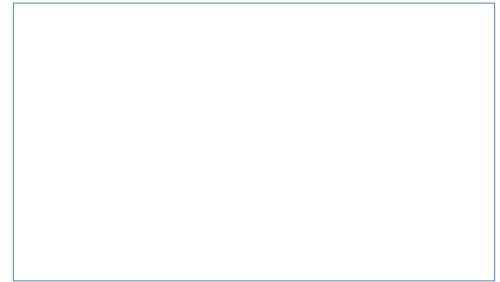

Human Resource Analytics Lecture 16 Recruitment Analytics – 1

Dr. Abhishek Singh
Faculty-Human Resource Management
XLRI-Jamshedpur

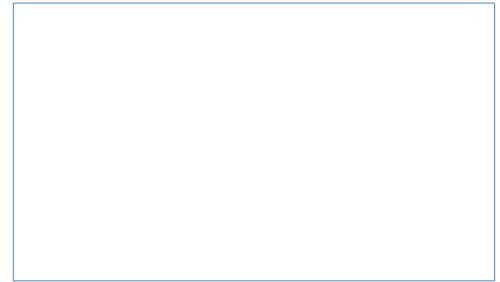

Air India – TATA Group

- How many candidates should be called for interview?
- What should be the screening criteria?
- How to screen such a huge number of applications?
- How many rounds of interview should be conducted?
- Can we attract the candidate without advertisement in future?

Questions related to recruitment that a manager needs to answer at workplace

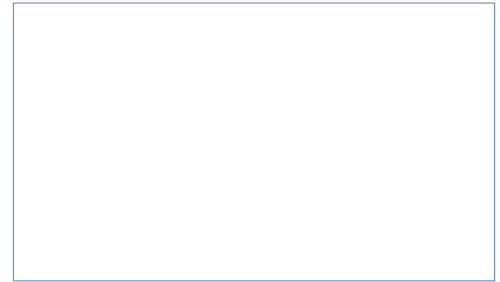

Q1.How to attract the more suitable candidate for the vacant positions?

Q2.What information should be given in job advertisement?

Q3.How to select appropriate recruitment method

Q4.How will you decide, how many applications are sufficient to fill the vacant positions in organization.

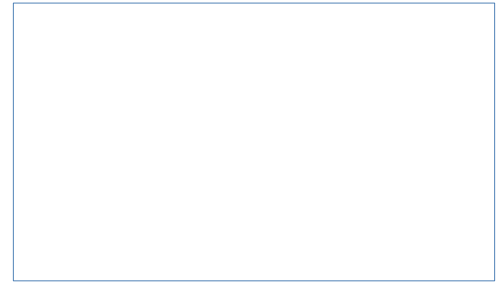

Q5.How many employees will leave the job?

Q6.How many job offers should be given to fill one position?

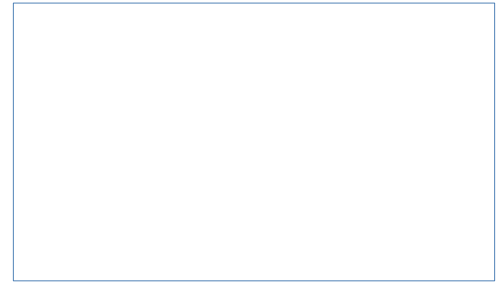

Q7.Who are the target candidates for our organization?

Q8.What is the impact of technology on recruitment?

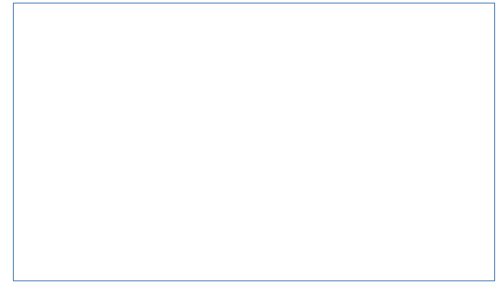

Q9.How many rounds of interview should be conducted for various positions?

Q10.How to attract and select the candidate for the top positions?

Uses of Recruitment and selection matrix

- Human resource planning
- Developing resourcing plan
- Building a retention strategy
- Designing a flexibility strategy
- Architecting the talent management strategy

Thank you

